Train Crash Kills Nine and Injures 75

This wreckage littered the Santa Fe main line near Monica, Ill., yesterday shortly after the line's crack El Capitan Flyer crashed into the Kansas City Chief, killing nine persons and injuring 75. Both streamliners were streaking for Chicago on the railway's two-track right-of-way when the crash came. (See story on Page 2.)

U.N. Acceptance Likely Soon For Canadian Help in Korea

OTTAWA, July 6 (CP).—United Nations acceptance of Canada's intervention in Korea appeared tonight to be only a day or so off and there was no sign of official optimism that the fight she enters will swiftly end.

Official sources said they anticipated that the United Nations Security Council, meeting tomorrow morning at Lake Success, will in effect approve appointment of an American, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, as U.N. commander in Korea.

That will set the stage for U.N. acceptance of three Canadian destroyers now heading for Pearl Harbor and the official feeling here is that the acceptance will come quite quickly.

TWO WEEKS AWAY

The warships, however, will proceed to Pearl Harbor first under present plans even if and when they do come under U.N. command. They would be about two weeks from Korea at Pearl Harbor, where they are due about July 12.

Meanwhile, word that Australia's Prime Minister Menzies will visit Ottawa, apparently within the next two weeks or so, raised prospects of a discussion of Pacific defence on a more permanent and formal basis than improvised U.N. intervention.

The Menzies Government has been pressing for a Pacific Pact and the last word by External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson on that subject in Parliament was that developments centring around Korea might make more permanent arrangements for Pacific defence "a most realistic matter for consideration."

Canada's stand, however, has been that the time is not ripe for such a pact for a variety of reasons. There is still no sign here of immediate fear that Korea will develop into a general war. Defence Minister Brooke Claxton left today for a week or ten days in Newfoundland, fishing and inspecting military installations. Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent leaves tomorrow for the West and will not be back until Tuesday.

Diplomatic and defence officials are, however, watching intelligence and other reports from the Far East, keeping an eye on the possibility that aggressive Communism does not intend to limit its actions to Korea.

Further aggressions need not mean general war any more than Korea has, but they would raise the question of another United Nations policing action and further efforts by the West, whose relatively limited resources for such action are already apparent.

BULLETIN

Boost Force

U.S. HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, July 7 (Friday) (AP).—The top United States general in Korea said today the North Koreans have put 15 divisions, led by about 150 tanks, into the southern invasion.

"We are now seeing tanks in groups of 30 to 40 where earlier they were in groups of ten," the general said.

Newcastle Disease Strikes Goldstream Turkey Flock

NEWCASTLE disease has broken out in a turkey flock of 2,700 birds near Goldstream, Government officials announced last night. The flock will be slaughtered and buried as soon as arrangements can be made.

The turkeys were first suspected of having the disease last week and the flock was placed in quarantine. Government officials' suspicion that the birds were infected was verified by laboratory tests made in Hull, Que., results of which were received in Victoria yesterday.

This is the first case of Newcastle disease reported south of Duncan. Previously, 3,500 birds had been slaughtered on Vancouver Island in an effort to curb the disease.

Heavy Losses Inflicted on Reds By Rocket-Bombing U.S. Planes

Reds Firm On Taking Formosa

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., July 6 (AP).—The Chinese Communist regime informed the United Nations tonight that it is determined to take Formosa "despite any military steps of obstruction taken by the United States Government."

The Red regime in Peking accused the United States of an "act of open aggression" by assigning American naval units to protect Formosa, last stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists.

Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai outlined Red China's position in a message to the United Nations Security Council, General Secretary.

The American action to which the message referred was taken by President Truman on the heels of North Korea's invasion of South Korea. The Communist message stated:

PLAIN INSTRUMENTS

"By keeping silent on this act of open aggression of the United States Government, the Security Council and the Secretary-General of the United Nations have forgone their functions and duties of upholding world peace, and thereby become plain instruments of the policy of the United States Government."

"The action of the United States navy in invading the Chinese territorial waters around Taiwan (Formosa) forms an act of open aggression which thoroughly violates the principle of United Nations charter forbidding any member to use force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any state."

INSEPARABLE FACT

"Taiwan is an inseparable part of the territory of China. This is not only a historical fact recognized by the entire world, but is also confirmed by the Cairo Declaration, the Potsdam Declaration and the situation since the surrender of Japan."

The Chinese Communist message described the U.N. Security Council's resolution of June 27 on the Korean question as "destitute of any legal validity." That resolution called on U.N. members to aid South Korea in resisting aggression.

Following a line previously advanced by Moscow, the Chinese Communist message said the resolution was illegal because the Soviet Union and Red China were not present at the meeting.

Chonan Reported Taken By North Korea Troops

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

TOKIO, July 7 (Friday) (INS).—North Korean Communist troops who punched their way 35 miles in two days near the Kum River defence lines today were reported to have suffered a "heavy toll" in casualties from American airmen who rocket-bombed and machine-gunned them.

Official announcements from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters at noon Friday said that six to ten tanks were knocked out and heavy casualties inflicted by low-level attacks by airmen going to the aid of a thin line of U.S. troops mauled by the Reds. Two B-26 light bombers were lost.

The vanguard of 30,000 armored Communist troops was reported in front dispatches to have captured Chonan, only 30 miles from the Kum River line, but MacArthur's communiqué did not confirm this. Instead it spoke of positions held by the U.S. troops in the Pongtack area, 12 miles north of Chonan.

REFINERY HIT

An air force bulletin said that big B-29 bombers ranging into North Korea inflicted damage on bridges, railways, and an oil refinery, and also that "four craft believed to be submarines were hit" in the harbor at Chinnampo, below the Red capital of Pyongyang.

If the targets were submarines observers believed they must be Russian since the North Korean satellite nation is not known to have any submarines.

Naval units in the Sea of Japan, the bulletin said, "have fired into Red positions on the East Coast from Samchok to the north." Counter-fire from a Communist battery was reported from a point about eight miles below the 38th Parallel border.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters estimated that six North Korean divisions are striking southward over a broad front in the centre and on the western side of Korea. Three of these are concentrated in the Osan-Pyongyang sector north of the menaced bastion of Taejon.

FIVE DIVISIONS

A front report however quoted an army spokesman as saying the Reds have five divisions, of perhaps 7,500 men each.

On the 13th day of the war the North Koreans have struck about 50 miles below fallen Seoul, or an

FOR ALL DAMAGES

"The Soviet Government will consider the United States Government responsible for all consequences of this act and for all damages which may be caused to the interests of the Soviet Union in connection with the carrying out of this blockade."

The broadcast opened with a reading of the American note to the Kremlin and was followed by the Soviet reply which referred to President Truman's order for the blockade and his reference to the U.N. Security Council resolution calling for all-out aid to South Korea.

STATEMENT SUPPORTED

This statement was backed up by Sen. William F. Knowland (Rep., California), one of the subcommittee members, who said he had visited Korea and was "tremendously impressed" with the job General Roberts was doing.

"I went up to the 38th Parallel with some of the staff people General Roberts and members of his staff spoke very highly of the calibre of the troops of the Republic of Korea; that is, those that had gone through the training cycle."

"He further expressed the feeling that as against any indigenous invasion from the North by Koreans alone, they would be able to give a good account of themselves and defend their republic," observed Senator Knowland.

Much the same testimony came from ranking officials of the Economic Co-operation Administration who testified later on the Aid-to-Korea Bill.

Deputy E.C.A. Administrator William C. Foster told the committee, "a rigorous training program has built a well-disciplined army of 100,000 soldiers; one that is prepared to meet any challenge by North Korean forces."

STRENGTH GROWING

Foster said that it was his "considered opinion" that the Government of the Republic of Korea was steadily growing in strength in three sectors—military, political, and economic.

"In my judgment," he added, "the trend of events in South Korea is more favorable than it has been at any time since the liberation of that country in 1945."

General Roberts protected his optimistic appraisal of fighting strength of the South Korean Army only to the extent of pointing out that he could not vouch for it if it were attacked by Russia.

"If a foreign country, not North Korea, invades the Republic of Korea, the military strength of the Republic of Korea might be weak," he conceded.

Rail Yardmen Call Off Strike

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP).—The A.P.I. Switchmen's Union today called off its wage-hour strike against four Western railroads in the United States, but directed that it remain in effect against the fifth—the 8,000-mile Rock Island system.

Arthur J. Glover, president of the Switchmen's Union, said the action was taken because of "the threat of direct Government intervention."

The strike against the Rock Island will continue in effect, the union said, "while the union attempts to negotiate a settlement of the issue in dispute."

Communists Thrust Southward

Co-ordinated tank and infantry thrusts, mapped above by solid arrows, last night-carried North Korean invaders southward on their drive from the line of Suwon and Wonju (shaded above). Front line reports say the Red invaders have overrun Pongtack and noed into Chonan, while the push from Wonju thrust on towards Chungju. Advanced American troops fell back before the Communist advance to regroup and await arrival of reinforcements moving up from Taejon along open arrow in map.

Coast Guard Plan Vetoed; R.C.A.F. to Run Rescues

OTTAWA, July 6 (CP).—Creation of a unified rescue service for distressed ships in waters off Canada has been decided on by the Federal Government.

This was learned today and announcement of the plan, which involves co-ordinating of existing Government ship services through the R.C.A.F. is expected shortly.

NO COAST GUARD

This means the Government has ruled definitely against establishment of a separate coast guard, such as East and West Coast organizations and members of Parliament have been urging.

Under the single command of the R.C.A.F. for purposes of search and rescue of ships in trouble, the ships to be used in the new service are those of the Transport, Resources and Fisheries Departments, the Navy and R.C.A.F., and the seagoing branch of the R.C.M.P. To now, these craft have operated independently.

The R.C.A.F. was chosen as controlling agency because of its network of communications. The force also operates its own search and rescue branch, primarily for picking up airmen down at sea, but also used in aiding distressed ships.

Bad Guess by Commanders

Faces Red in Washington Over Officials' Advice South Korea Able to Repel Communist Invasion

WASHINGTON, July 6 (NANA).—The bad guess of top United States military commanders in Korea on the ability of the South Korean Republic to defend itself is causing red faces in the Pentagon today.

The full story of how Congress was misled into believing that South Korea was practically impregnable to almost any attack has just emerged from Congressional hearings.

A transcript of testimony before the Senate appropriations subcommittee last month shows that almost all top officials were certain South Korea was ready to repel any kind of Communist invasion.

It was only three weeks ago that Brig.-Gen. William L. Roberts, former ranking officer of the military advisory group in Korea, told correspondents and lawmakers:

"If North Korea with her best equipment invades South Korea, South Korea will be fully ready for defence. . . . The condition of the national defence army of the Republic of Korea is excellent by world standards."

Asked if the military strength of South Korea was ready for invasion by any foreign power, General Roberts added this punch line:

"I do not think the Soviet Union will invade South Korea. Viewed from present standards, the army of the republic will be able to repulse a foreign army of two or three times superiority."

This statement was backed up by Sen. William F. Knowland (Rep., California), one of the subcommittee members, who said he had visited Korea and was "tremendously impressed" with the job General Roberts was doing.

"I went up to the 38th Parallel with some of the staff people General Roberts and members of his staff spoke very highly of the calibre of the troops of the Republic of Korea; that is, those that had gone through the training cycle."

"He further expressed the feeling that as against any indigenous invasion from the North by Koreans alone, they would be able to give a good account of themselves and defend their republic," observed Senator Knowland.

Much the same testimony came from ranking officials of the Economic Co-operation Administration who testified later on the Aid-to-Korea Bill.

Deputy E.C.A. Administrator William C. Foster told the committee, "a rigorous training program has built a well-disciplined army of 100,000 soldiers; one that is prepared to meet any challenge by North Korean forces."

STRENGTH GROWING

Foster said that it was his "considered opinion" that the Government of the Republic of Korea was steadily growing in strength in three sectors—military, political, and economic.

"In my judgment," he added, "the trend of events in South Korea is more favorable than it has been at any time since the liberation of that country in 1945."

General Roberts protected his optimistic appraisal of fighting strength of the South Korean Army only to the extent of pointing out that he could not vouch for it if it were attacked by Russia.

"If a foreign country, not North Korea, invades the Republic of Korea, the military strength of the Republic of Korea might be weak," he conceded.

Officials Take Dim View Of Weed-Killing by Gas

A poisonous gas used to kill weeds and insects in gardens backfired at a test display in Saanich yesterday afternoon—and scattered Oak Bay and Saanich officials in all directions.

The event was staged by F. H. Heidner, landscape architect, to prove to officials the deadly gas was safe to use in residential districts.

PERFECTLY SAFE

He carefully explained to Acting Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay; Dr. Neil Stewart, medical health officer; Thomas Watt, superintendent of public works; Hugh Reston, chief of police; Edward Claydars, fire chief; and O. H. Watts, Saanich sanitary inspector that the weed killer was perfectly safe to use.

Then Mr. Heidner and his assistant, Walter Sorichinski, clad in rubber gloves, boots and gas mask prepared to inject the gas into a long tent built close to the ground.

Municipal officials drew closer, the better to see the injection of the gas, confined in a small tin under high pressure, into the tent.

Mr. Heidner, still explaining the safety factors of his equipment—and the new safety valve recently installed—hooked up the can and started the gas flowing.

Something went wrong. Instead of the gas entering the tent and the tent, it sprayed in all directions. A slight panic as officials rushed in all directions—and Mr. Heidner was left alone with his equipment.

Mr. Watts thought the gas was probably a wonderful idea for killing weeds—but too dangerous.

Acting Reeve Murdoch had even a stronger opinion of the new type of weed killer:

"I don't like the idea at all," he said. "I don't think this stuff should be used in a residential area at all. It's too dangerous to children."

New Evidence Collects In Holdup-Murder Case

WINDSOR, Ont., July 6 (CP).—As a 37-year-old man charged with double murder and a bank holdup received a routine remand in Magistrate's Court today, new evidence in the case was piling up.

The suspect, captured June 24 after a three-day manhunt through southwestern Ontario bushland, was finally identified as Joseph Herbert McAuliffe. Previously, he had gone by the names of Frank West and George Walker.

He will appear for preliminary hearing July 17 on a charge of robbing the Langton branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada of $23,000 June 21, and on two charges of murder.

CHECKING GUN

Meanwhile, police were checking a Tommy gun, $521 in cash and clothing found yesterday a stone's throw from where Arthur Lierman, 34, and William Goddyn, 24, were cut down by machine-gun bullets as they pursued the bank bandit. Police hoped to link the weapon with McAuliffe.

Identification of the suspect came as McAuliffe was tied in with a police raid last week on a Windsor, Ont., garage in which counterfeited 50-cent pieces had been made. Gillies, who knew the man who rented the garage said he called himself McAuliffe and that he appeared to be the man whose picture appeared in newspapers after the Langton suspect was arrested.

In court today, the suspect admitted his name was McAuliffe. W. E. McAuliffe, of North Bay, Ont., visited the suspect's cell and positively identified him as his son.

Mr. McAuliffe said: "We haven't heard from him for a couple of years."

Two Fast Trains Bump; Nine Killed, 75 Injured

MONICA, Ill., July 6 (AP).—Two high-speed Santa Fe Railway streamliners, streaking eastward side by side, bumped midsections in a freak collision today that brought crushing death to nine persons and injuries to about 75.

The crash came at a stretch of tracks near here where daily the 90-mile-an-hour El Capitan Flyer from Los Angeles passes the 70-mile-an-hour Kansas City Chief from Kansas City.

Both trains were bound for Chicago, 188 miles northeast.

As the El Capitan began pulling ahead, its mail car lurched, left the tracks, and jackknifed into the first car and side of the Chief's locomotive.

It was 4:40 a.m. C.S.T. The men's washroom of one El Capitan coach was crowded with men shaving.

Strikes Hit Car Industry

DETROIT, July 6 (AP).—Strikes and threats of strikes hit the American automobile industry today.

Some 8,500 Dodge workers were made idle by an unauthorized walk-out of 80 men who drive finished cars off the assembly line. However, the second shift reported for work at its normal time.

Kaiser-Frazer announced it would be forced to halt production tomorrow because of a supplier strike in Muncie, Ind. About 10,000 workers will be made idle.

The United Auto Workers (U.A.W.) said a strike of 6,000 employees of Dana Corporation's Spicer Manufacturing Division would be called at midnight Friday unless a contract dispute is settled.

Man Facing Blindness Gives Eye to Aid Woman

TORONTO, July 6 (CP).—A man facing blindness himself has given an eye to a sightless woman in the hope that she will see again. Authorities disclosed today that a cornea—a transparent "window" which covers the eye—was removed yesterday in an operation on Cyril Mosher. It was transferred to the eye of the woman, whose identity was not disclosed.

Before the operation, a faulty cornea was removed from one of the woman's eyes. Mosher's cornea was in perfect condition; his loss of vision was caused by other factors. It will be about 14 days before the results of the operation are known.

Scientists Going North To Trace Magnetic Pole

OTTAWA, July 6 (CP).—An R.C.A.F. Canoe aircraft will head north tomorrow, carrying a crew of seven and two scientists on the fourth annual aerial expedition to the North Magnetic Pole.

The scientists—Ralph D. Hutchison of Ottawa and Kenneth Whitman of Toronto—will resume studies of the vagaries of the constantly-shifting Magnetic Pole.

On the basis of information gathered since the expeditions began in 1947, the Pole is moving at a rate of about ten miles a year in a north-northwesterly direction.

Mr. Hutchison, head magnetician in the Federal Technical Survey Department, said he and Mr. Whitman, a graduate student in physics at University of Toronto, will attempt to find out the changes in the Pole's position since his 1949 expedition into the North.

The Magnetic Pole is located on Prince of Wales Island, roughly centered at latitude 74 degrees north, longitude 96 west. This is almost directly north of Churchill, Man., about 1,000 miles from the true North Pole.

WANDERS CONTINUALLY

The Polar area wanders during the day in about a 25-mile radius. During severe magnetic storms it may move erratically in 100-mile jumps around the rough location.

Mr. Hutchison said that the position of the Magnetic Pole is important for navigation purposes. Any change in the position of the Pole affects the reliability of compasses. The information obtained during the trip will be made available to other countries so that compasses can be adjusted accordingly.

On this trip, the expedition will attempt to put down in areas not previously covered. Weather permitting, a stop will be made at Ellesmere Island, the most northerly of Canada's islands, approximately 2,600 miles north of Ottawa.

Jury Indicts Ex-Technician

SANTA FE, N.M., July 6 (AP).—A Federal grand jury today indicted David Greenglass, 28, former United States army technician, on a charge of conspiring to give atomic secrets to Russia.

In a two-page true bill, the jurors charged the former Los Alamos technician with four specific overt acts. It declared that:

On June 3, 1945, Greenglass met in Albuquerque, N.M., with Harry Gold.

World Briefs on Korean War

FAR EASTERN AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Tokyo, Jan. 7 (Friday) (INS).—United States Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer announced today that 22 American planes and 23 North Korean planes have been lost in the first ten days of the war in Korea.

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP).—American military leaders said today the buildup of United States forces in South Korea is making steady progress and despite stiff reinforcements now are being used to the war zone, the high command said.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., July 6 (AP).—Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko served notice today on Dwight D. Eisenhower that the Soviet Union will do nothing to help the United Nations repel Communist North Korea's invasion of South Korea. It is considered significant that the Soviet Union even replied to a telegram from the U.N. secretary-general.

LONDON, July 6 (Reuters).—The common debate on Korea has proved that all major parties in Britain are solidly behind the Government's prompt support for the Security Council's "help South Korea" request.

A U.S. ADVANCED POST IN KOREA, July 7 (Friday) (INS).—South Korean Defense Minister Shin Sung-Mo said today his army intends to drive the Northern Communist invaders clear back to the Manchurian-Siberian borders, not only back past their border.

MONTREAL, July 6 (CP).—Lt. Gen. Charles Foulke, chief of the general staff of the Canadian Army, said today the Korean incident is unlikely to lead to a third world war unless Russia planned purposely to start a war. He said Russia was careful not to use Soviet troops directly in the operation and, if it falls, would not lose face and could proclaim Russian had no part in the affair.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 6 (AP).—The Arab world is rallying behind Egypt's "absolute neutrality" policy toward Korea, to the disappointment of the United States and Britain.

TOKIO, July 7 (Friday) (INS).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur charged today that the North Korean enemy positively is using South Korean aircraft markings in the war.

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 6 (AP).—Signs of war jitters are appearing among the West German population.

Alarmed by the Korean conflict, many are fearful that it may spread to Europe—where Germany would almost inevitably be a major battleground.

TOKIO, July 7 (Friday) (INS).—The Chinese Communist Peiping Radio broadcast a North Korean dispatch today claiming that the South Koreans suffered 7,000 casualties in their unsuccessful stand at the port city of Incheon, west of fallen Seoul.

Retiring president Walter J. Fletcher of Victoria Rotary Club handed over his gavel yesterday to 1950-51 president J. George Duck.

A big gathering of Rotarians, their wives and visitors in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel saw Frank Doherty install the following other officers: Charles E. Brown and A. J. Cowie, vice-presidents; H. A. Arnold, John Gough, W. C. Mearns, J. G. McIntosh, J. W. Miller and R. W. Phipps, directors.

Mrs. Fletcher presented Mrs. Duck with a bouquet. Also installed were two other officers, veterans of many years service: T. P. McConnell, secretary-treasurer (17th year) and William G. Lemm, sergeant-at-arms (14th year).

Mr. McConnell reported that membership had risen during the year from 159 to 163. Attendance was 85.8 per cent. He listed the club's major contributions to charities: Community Chest, $200; scholarships, $225; Salvation Army, $1,150; Queen Alexandra Solarium, $2,500; St. Joseph's Hospital, $1,000; Royal Jubilee Hospital, $500; Winnipeg flood relief, $1,001; B.C. Protestant Orphanage, $1,000.

PEANUT DRIVE

The Victoria Optimist Club is preparing to launch a huge "peanut" drive in Victoria on Friday, July 14, president Ted Baker announced yesterday.

The peanut drive will include a parade through city streets, base-ball game, clowns, and vendors on the streets selling peanuts.

Proceeds will go towards the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund and Optimist boys' work activities. To swell the sale of peanuts members of the club will take three pages of the telephone book and telephone the various householders for orders.

Members of the Victoria Boys' Bicycle Club and Junior Optimist Club will help in delivering the orders.

Final plans for the latest Optimist Club project will be drawn up at a special committee meeting to be held in the Pacific Club on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

VERNON AGREES

Two more municipalities have replied to Victoria's brief-appeal that sales tax payments to municipalities not be earmarked for any special purpose.

Vernon endorsed the brief unanimously and notified Premier Byron Johnson of its decision. Burnaby felt that the subject should be brought up at the forthcoming meeting of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities. Any representations made to the Provincial Government should be through the U.B.C.M., the municipality stated.

COUNTERFEIT WARNING

City police received a warning bulletin from the R.C.M.P. at Vancouver to be on the lookout for counterfeit U.S. $10 and $20 bills. They were first discovered in Vancouver during the Dominion Day week-end.

The $20 bills are drawn on the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco and the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, Texas. The counterfeit $10 bills are drawn on the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, Ga., and Boston, Mass.

CAR STOLEN

George Bunn, 949 Meares Street, reported to city police yesterday that his car had been stolen during the night from a service station.

The car is a two-tone green Pontiac sedan. He told police that he parked and left the car on the service station lot at 10 p.m. Wednesday night and, when he returned to collect it yesterday morning, it was gone. The car was locked and there were no keys in it.

Pollard Makes Hole-in-One

First hole-in-one in the eleventh annual Gyro Hole-in-One Tournament was made yesterday by Jack A. Pollard, 1025 Falmouth Road. He won $15 and a chance on a $335 inboard motor.

W. Marchbank, Dominion Hotel, managed to drop a ball within ten inches of the cup on the 70-yard course, to win $10. Helmut Goertz, 1555 Monterey Avenue, won $5 with an 11-inch miss.

The tournament will continue at 7 p.m. today, and on Saturday it will be open to the afternoon. Qualifiers' finals will be held that day.

Officials say city dividers will fire an estimated 30,000 shots over the Central Junior High School course. The last ten tournaments raised $45,000 for Gyro charities.

In addition to the contest, a full-scale carnival is in operation. Games, rides and refreshments have entertained hundreds of Victorians during the past two days.

Broadcast Silenced By Wandering Cow

If the milkman brings you irradiated milk this morning, don't be surprised.

It's all the fault of an inquisitive cow which put radio station CKDA off the air for half an hour yesterday. Boxy, it seems, got to wandering around the station's Cedar Hill transmitter. Nosing around by the bright radiator or tower—she pulled down a lead-in running between the radiator and the transmitter hut.

Mystified studio engineers who rushed to the scene by cab had to drive away the cow before they could repair the damage.

The station went off the air about 4:45 p.m. in the middle of "Kiddy Capers," cut back in half an hour later in the middle of the CKDA "Western Roundup."

KINDERGARTEN

Failed to Pay Premiums, Three Haled Into Court

Three men were convicted in city and Saanich police courts yesterday of failing to pay their hospital insurance premiums.

Herbert C. M. Wilson, 800 St. Charles Street, paid a $5 fine out of court and John Stafford Horne, 1520 Gladstone Avenue, was given until July 17 to pay up $46.50 in arrears on his premium. Both appeared in city court.

City Prosecutor Claude Harrison told Magistrate Henry C. Hall that he was willing to hold payment of the premium until that date. "It's hard to raise that much money quickly," he told the court. In Saanich police court, Frederick O. Giles, 3221 Orillia Street, was fined $5 for failing to pay his hospital insurance premium.

SAANICH COURT

Two drivers appeared in Saanich police court on charges of failing to pull over for a police siren.

Constables Albert Green and David Anderson told the court that they were on their way to a hurry-up call in the police emergency car when their vehicle was blocked on the East Saanich Road by the two cars June 24.

Fined $15 on the charge was Sydney R. H. Duclos, R.R. 1, Royal Oak. He appeared in his own defence.

A similar charge was dismissed against Evelyn M. Plant, Towner Park Road, Sidney. She told the court that she hadn't

Feels Defence Plans Go Too Slowly

Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P. for Nanaimo, said yesterday he was "quite sure" that Canada's defence forces were preparing themselves "as effectively as their opportunities permit."

Asked to comment on the announcement that the Department of National Defence had drafted plans which would protect Victoria and Vancouver in the event of a surprise attack, Gen. Pearkes remarked: "Well, in the first war, we had the British navy."

"Defence Minister Brooke-Claughton intimated Tuesday at Ottawa that United States warships would defend Canada's Pacific Coast in the absence of Canadian naval units sent to Pearl Harbor."

NEED CARRIER

The general said he felt the present situation pointed the need both for strengthening Canada's coastal defences—"we need an aircraft carrier here in the worst possible way"—and for formation of a disaster relief organization capable of dealing with both peace-time and war emergencies.

He noted that plans for commencing a civil-defence training plan announced by Mr. Claxton called for the training of key personnel only in certain fields at armed forces schools.

"We are still moving too slowly," he declared. Commenting on the same announcement, Mayor Percy George said there was no civil defence force which could be brought into action at a moment's notice. Only organization which could take over was the Red Cross disaster service.

"ABOUT TIME" The mayor recalled that during the World War, Victoria had a civil defence force of more than 3,000 trained personnel. Since its disbandment, nothing had been done to organize a similar force, he said. "It's about time something was done."

Action, Not Excuses, Wanted on Island Highway

WITH July already well advanced, it becomes obvious that no more than a token start, if that, can be made this year on the long-promised new Island Highway outlet from Victoria. This is just not good enough. Construction was pledged definitely by the Provincial Government two and a half years ago. Since then the Government has seized one excuse after another to put the work off, and they are excuses that for the most part will not stand up.

The one chiefly used is that route surveys have not yet been completed. How many years does it take to run a line across easy country for a five or ten-mile length of road. Another excuse more recently employed is that the Province cannot move without the Dominion Government's say, so now that the Island Highway is to form part of the projected Canadian Highway. Anyone who has read the terms of the Dominion-provincial highway agreement will find it hard to accept that as a valid reason for procrastination in this instance.

The Dominion does not build the highway; it foots half the bill, and the money is to be forthcoming for past as well as future work on any road that will be part of the transcontinental thread. What have "negotiations" with the Dominion to do with the beginning of actual work on a road promised in any event as a provincial project long before financial terms for the Canadian Highway were settled? The fact that it will get dollar-for-dollar aid from the Dominion should be all the more incentive to British Columbia to end these already unjustifiable delays.

The urgent need for a safe road out of Victoria is obvious to anyone. An observant resident on the present highway a few miles outside Victoria recently counted 67 vehicles crawling behind a slow-moving logging truck, unable to pass it in safety on a winding road with only a single traffic lane each way. That is Victoria's principal tourist route and only highway outlet—a bottleneck and a deathtrap.

Mr. Claxton Has Plans Up His Sleeve

VICTORIANS need not worry about a surprise attack on this coast. Mr. Claxton has a plan. It may be up his sleeve, but it is there. The Defence Minister let a press conference have a peep at it this week. A third regular R.C.A.F. fighter squadron—a third, no less—will be formed this year. It will be based in Eastern Canada, it is true, but presumably enough gasoline could be found to fly it over the Rockies in an emergency. Come Autumn and a pamphlet on civil defence will be prepared. He will even call Parliament together before committing H.M.C.S. Magnificent to action.

How this country must be envied by military strategists elsewhere! How comforting all this sounds—in Ottawa. Mr. Claxton should come and live in British Columbia. What a pity he did not make the trip to Victoria that time he was in Vancouver, even if a hot reception awaited him about war graves identification. He might have learned that in relation to modern needs this area is about as well defended as it was at the time of Pearl Harbor. Perhaps, of course, he knows nothing about that episode.

On the matter of national preparedness Mr. Claxton does little but emit puerilities. People who live here are not blind. There is one lone regular fighter squadron in Vancouver. The anti-aircraft guns in this area could probably be counted on both hands. The main naval armament having left for the Far East, the Atlantic-based fleet is about to jaunt in European waters. If Victoria is well served with other defensive equipment—men are not a primary need, says the Defence Minister—this must be more secret than the Chalk River atomic plant.

However, Mr. Claxton has one ace in the hole. The United States would look after us if anything happened. What a handy thing it is for the Defence Department that we have a big neighbor. It enables it to keep its plans up its sleeve. And what plans!

Forest Fires and the Tourist Season

SOME day perhaps British Columbians will develop a better sense of perspective in the handling of the mid-summer forest fire peak and the tourist season concurrently. At present there is a patent effort at verbal strangulation on both sides. The tourist agencies wish nothing said about fire control—although such control is a good thing and the first requirement. The fire prevention agencies are inclined to ignore the tourists, to broadcast their "closures" and to "warn" everybody in sight or within hearing of the technical fire hazard of the moment.

The fact is that three-quarters of all forest areas in British Columbia could be closed completely and the average tourist would not know the difference, or feel it in his itinerary. Not many visitors stray into the real timbered areas, and the few that do so can be safely guided into the recreation they want, without increasing the fire hazard in any particular. Admittedly there are exceptions, but these are far fewer than might appear on the surface.

The kind of thing that galls is to have Vancouver Island blanketed by broadcast and other announcements of a spot forest closure, which may not affect one per cent of the tourists headed this way. That has happened so many times in the past that there is room to remember it now that the tourist season and the peak of the technical fire hazard have again been conjoined. Let us be reasonable on both sides of the equation—protect the forests, but do not turn the visitors away.

STILL DOUBLE-TALK

Sir,—A Colonist editorial of July 3 dismisses as "Communist double-talk" the argument that the decision of the U.N. Security Council on Korea was not valid because two of the members, the U.S.S.R. and China, were not present.

Well then, the Charter of the United Nations is also "Communist double-talk" because it says: "Decisions of the Security Council on all other matters (except procedure—D.B.) shall be made by an affirmative vote of seven members, including the concurring votes of the permanent members" (para. 3, article 27, chap. VI). And that makes those American delegates who argued at San Francisco for the inclusion of this so-called "veto" also "Communist double-talkers."

As for the ingenious argument that the decision of the Rump Security Council must be right because 32 nations support it, that ignores the fact that the Governments opposed to the decision represent over half the world's population, to say nothing of the millions of people in other countries who oppose their Government's policy of intervention.

As for South Korea being "absorbed against its will," no mention is made of the fact that the Rhee Government, which the United States is backing, was defeated in an election held last May 30 by those who favor negotiations for North-South unification.

Slurs about "The Victoria Labor-Progressives and the Kremlin" will not prevent the stand of progressive Canadians for the independence of the colonial peoples being remembered with gratitude by the peoples of Asia and Africa long after editorialists supporting intervention have become historical curiosities.

EARLY BRITONS

Sir,—In the issue of The Daily Colonist of June 30 you printed an article by Richard Needham entitled "Britons and the Law" in which he asserts that the outstanding characteristic of present-day Britain is the respect for law and order and for common decency and tolerance; and then adds the following: "If civilisation is a matter of getting along smoothly and pleasantly with the next fellow, then the British are very civilized indeed."

After reading this splendid article my thoughts reverted to what we were taught in the schools in Britain years ago, that the early Britons were a barbarous and uncivilized nation, composed of a skin-clad and painted savage people and, in fact, this was the trend of a remark made from a pulpit in one of our local churches a few weeks ago.

Surely, when one considers the outstanding accomplishments of the British race since early times in history, then one can readily understand the remarks made in the above-mentioned article.

I am sure there is a vast amount of "authentic" information available, which would prove conclusively that the early Britons possessed a civilization far in advance of that possessed by other nations in that era of history.

Thinking Aloud

of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings.

By TOM TAYLOR

ONE of my favorite shockers being "Mr. Standfast," I am wondering what John Buchan would have thought of the Columbia University Press poll that named the ten most boring classics.

Buchan went to the "Pilgrim's Progress" for a title to pin on Peter Plennar, although admitting before the story had run its course he should have called that gentle Boer "Mr. Vallant-For-Truth." But it is John Bunyan's prison-writ-tale that tops the poll in question.

It is a new departure to pick the most boring books rather than the best ones, and any such choice is always open to doubt by those who don't agree with the lists selected. Presumably the choice in this instance was limited to what is known as classic literature, meaning in the main old books, since an author has to be long dead before he is given such an accolade. It would be easy to pick a list of modern books that are boring, too, beginning say with "Forever Amber," but they are outside the scope of the present argument.

Frankly, I find myself in some agreement with the pollsters, said to be such beings as editors, writers, booksellers, librarians, literary critics and amateurs. An erudite collection, to be true, but the last category gives this column excuse to air its views.

Seeing that "Pilgrim's Progress" derived from the influence of the Bible on its author it is not surprising to find it in ill favor. The Bible itself, while the world's best seller, is also by the same token the world's best neglected book—in whole. Sentences from the Bible abound in everyday life but that does not mean it is read—much. Bunyan, nevertheless, is in good company.

I suppose it might be schoolboy memories that caused "Moby Dick" to be decreed. At school the classics are so pounded into students they graduate with literary hates that last for life. That is probably why "Ivanhoe," "Silas Marner" and Milton's "Paradise Lost" are deemed to be boring. Too much of even a literary classic is too much; yet it is a fact that a fresh approach in adult life to some of these ancient tales is an eye-opener.

Boswell's "Life of Johnson," always cited by the learned as the greatest biography ever written, is also proscribed. Of a truth, the good doctor does grow wearying, and posterity has kept him alive when it might have been merciful to let his opinions slide into oblivion. "Don Quixote," another of the listed books, needs for its part a taste for satire, and I dare say it also has lived on its name far beyond its age. Windmills seem so outmoded nowadays.

The tendency, if one is not of the literary, is to refuse to be honest and express dislike of a classic for fear such heresy be castigated as ignorance. Let it. A point worth remembering is that these classics became classics by accident in so far as their authors were concerned. They were written for their own times, not ours. So that if you find some of them difficult to follow—boring, in fact—don't worry.

Spenser's "Faith-Queen," national epic though it may have been, finds a place in the demoted ten for this very reason. The votes cast against Shakespeare, although he escaped inclusion in the list, would be similarly induced. Shakespeare is not easy to read; you must accustom yourself to blank verse and the measure of his style. If you do there is superb thought and language to be found—but not without wading through many living passages.

Goethe's "Faust" is probably acclaimed by many who have never read it, and not having done other than paw through it I offer no comment. The pollsters did. They put it with Richardson's "Pamela" to complete the ten. "Pamela" is also a stranger to this column, but I have an idea what she might be like. I could be mistaken, though, as could be the pundits and amateurs who dared to dispassionately rate literary works golden idols. But I liked their candor.

Putting Wires Underground

By LAWRIE JOSLIN

IF overhead wiring is to be replaced by underground wiring in Victoria it must come through public pressure. The B.C. Electric and B.C. Telephone Companies, understandably, are not likely to push plans for conversion at the risk of increased rates to consumers.

Even though they do not paint a very bright picture from the standpoint of costs, utility company officials are well aware of the aesthetic and practical value of lines hidden from view.

Efforts are being made to keep lines off streets in a number of new subdivisions where the companies have succeeded in securing easements on back lot lines for overhead wires.

One of the utility companies has estimated cost of underground line construction runs from four to six times as much as overhead lines in residential districts, and is from seven to ten times as expensive in business areas. They say such figures may be even greater for an underground system in Greater Victoria because of the rocky terrain of the area.

"This rocky terrain in turn would also in many instances add to the costs of providing underground services on private property, which costs would be a burden upon the customers of the system," it was explained.

Company officials say conversion costs would be somewhat greater than new underground construction in an area not formerly served by overhead lines for the reason that a "write-off" would be necessary to cover the remaining life in the overhead system supplanted by an underground system.

An underground system would have a longer lifetime and be maintained at less cost than an overhead system. But while this is admitted by company officials, they can see possible trouble cropping up among the advantages.

It is explained that an underground system may become obsolete before it wears out. Unless big initial expenditures are made on underground construction to allow a wide degree of flexibility, it has been found that new electrical appliances and developments come on the market which are beyond the capacity of the system.

This was the experience of the B.C. Electric in the Uplands area, the one district where underground lines are located in Victoria. A few years after the system was installed—with the original land-holding company paying for the installation and adding the cost to the sale price of the lots—electric stoves came on the market for the first time. In order that this appliance might be used in the area it was necessary that the underground system in many sections of the Uplands be supplemented with overhead wires.

"In other words the underground system installed in the Uplands lacked the necessary capacity to carry the increased load imposed by the many new electrical appliances not contemplated when the underground system was installed," officials explain.

Since an underground system is not subject to wind conditions, falling trees and other hazards, it requires less frequent maintenance. But officials state that where maintenance is required to underground construction, it is generally more expensive than similar attention to overhead lines.

Power interruptions which occur in the case of underground lines usually are of a longer duration than in the case of overhead construction, because it is only through sectional testing of the underground system that the location of the failure can be determined.

Company officials state the problem of installing underground wiring in Victoria is further complicated by the absence of alleys or lanes, which in many cities are used for the location of service lines.

BILL, the Broad Street barber, told a customer several jokes while he administered a haircut, shave and massage. "What did you think of that last one?" he asked when the man's face emerged from a steaming towel. "I have been coming to this shop for 12 years," the customer replied. "It appears to me that as a barber grows older he tells fewer jokes, but he makes up for it by telling the same ones more often."

"I read in one of your ancient magazines that a successful method of making artificial wool from cow's milk has been developed. If cows could read, it would probably make them feel sheepish," another customer chuckled when he sat down in the chair served by Barber Ben. "It might be a bit difficult to find a distinctive name for wool made from cow's milk. Would the factory call it Jersey, Holstein or Ayrshire wool?" Ben inquired.

"Just look at that man driver trying to get nowhere fast," a friend exclaimed to the boss of the barber shop when a battered automobile roared past the window, narrowly missing three other machines. "A wise man once remarked that those who live the fastest are the first to reach the finish line," the boss commented.

"It looks as if the increased price of lumber will curtail the building of homes," a customer said to Tobaccoist Martin. "Homes will still be put up, regardless of cost. Persons must have roofs over their heads. Many are more than fed up with having to pay astronomical rentals. It will simply mean that a home owner becomes an equity owner. A man will owe much to his home, and owe much on it besides," Martin observed.

"I heard a broadcast last night by a New York traffic expert who claimed that pedestrians were now twice as safe on streets of the big city as they would have been 40 years ago," a friend told the Keating Squire while they dalled over a pot of tea in a Broad Street cafe. "I expect the expert meant there is not as much chance of being kicked by a horse or run down by a wagon as there was 40 years ago," the Squire chuckled.

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO—About 150 reverted lots—some with houses, some vacant—will be selected from various portions of the city for sale without reserve at the auction to be held next month.

50 YEARS AGO—The steamer Queen, which arrived last night from the North, brought well over 200 excursionists and numerous miners, most of whom carried well laden bags of gold.

85 YEARS AGO—The Indians on the plains are still so troublesome that the telegraph line cannot be kept in order.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Things we scarcely believe: A leading New York fashion house, while favoring skirts 14-inches from the ground, says they should be of what-ever length best suits the wearer.

Names like Seouj and Eljongbu are back in the communications of the hour. And again it's every news-broadcaster for himself.

"I wish you'd see my husband," the woman said to the psychiatrist. "He blows smoke rings through his nose. It frightens me sometimes."

"I don't know that it's so terribly unusual for someone to blow smoke rings through his nose," said the psychiatrist.

"But my husband doesn't smoke," said the woman.

Lovers of old jokes will feel let down over a recent episode in Detroit. When fourteen zoo baboons escaped, only fourteen were returned.

Smile: As slow as Sunday traffic on Beach Drive.

Most often misquoted maxim: "The love of money is the root of all evil." Regularly the first three words are omitted.

Five Problems Face West, Besides Korea

Interpreting the News

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.

A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Western Allies have five major preoccupations at the moment in addition to the actual fighting in Korea:

Will Chinese Communist forces go ahead with their plans for the invasion of Formosa?

Will they send reinforcements to North Korea?

Will Russia sponsor a Bulgarian manoeuvre in Greek and Yugoslav Macedonia which might produce a Balkan war?

Will the Communists make an all-out effort in Indo-China before American arms aid can make itself felt?

Will Russia use the occasion for further activities in Iran, where things are not too stable, and where it is not impossible that a swift switch of government might give the Kremlin a peaceful conquest?

MOST URGENT

Of these questions, probably the most urgent now is whether Chinese Communist troops may be thrown into the Korean fighting.

The United States is taking care not to offer any incitement on this score. That was why Chiang Kai-shek was asked to stop his air raids on the mainland when the Seventh Fleet was ordered to defend Formosa. And why this offer of troops for South Korea has not been accepted, and probably will not be accepted at all unless the Peking forces move in anyway.

Reports from Hongkong have strengthened the fear, however, that Peking's plans for an invasion of Formosa had gained such momentum that their abandonment would represent a severe political as well as military problem, and that they might try it even in the face of American naval opposition.

From this distance, however, that hardly seems practical. No country in the world is capable of bucking the United States Navy in such a position. Some invaders might get through, but they would pay a terrible price before they even met Chiang's "defenders."

MIGHT FEEL SAFE

The Communist bloc might feel safe in making a pass at Yugoslavia while U.S. attention centres in the far Pacific, but they can hardly hope to get away with anything in Greece, after the determination already displayed there by the Allies.

There is a bad internal situation in Iran, making it difficult for U.S. aid to earn a profit in the way of stabilisation. And there are many dissident elements. There are dangers from infiltration there. But as for direct aggression, Russia knows that the geographical and historical position of Persia, relative to the Middle East and its oil, means that any such move would very probably produce a major war. And Russia's attitude about the war she inspired in Korea suggests strongly she is not taking such chances now.

Not much has been heard in recent days about the Viet Minh. Communists in Indo-China and their brothers across the line in China. At least nothing to indicate any great expansion of Ho Chi Minh's rebellious activity. First American arms shipments to the French and their semi-autonomous Indo-Chinese Governments are now en route. If military needs in Korea should interfere with them too much, Indo-China might become a serious spot.

Oddities

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP).—Even the "Magician's Magician" of the Year" didn't fool a New York burglar.

Milbourne Christopher, who won that title at a Chicago convention of magicians, left his Manhattan apartment for the week-end.

As he often does, he put $50 in a Chinese confetti bowl that has a secret compartment—originally designed to fool audiences at his magic show.

When he returned home, someone had solved the secret of the Chinese confetti bowl. The money was gone, he told police yesterday.

BOSTON, July 6 (AP).—Jacob Garfinkle looked behind him and there, hooked to his rear bumper, was a driverless automobile.

He told police he apparently drove away from a parking space with the stowaway automobile hitched to his.

OAKLAND, Cal., July 6 (AP).—R. C. Trotter says he just hasn't the heart to tell his little red hen.

He gave her some potatoes to eat a week ago. She's been sitting on them since, waiting for the spuds to hatch.

ATLANTA, July 6 (AP).—An Atlanta housewife is in a hospital today, the victim of her husband's love.

Returning home from work yesterday afternoon, the husband found his wife sitting in a chair. Sentimentally, he sat on her lap to kiss her.

The 116-pound wife was taken to hospital with a broken leg.

WEINBERG, Germany, July 6 (Reuters).—The mayor made a speech today to open a swimming pool and then dived in, frock coat, top hat and all.

It's becoming a habit with him. He did the same thing when he opened his first swimming pool 20 years ago.

Labor Plan May Lower Fruit Price

LONDON, July 6 (AP).—Cheaper fruits and vegetables may be a basic part of Labor's plans for the next election.

Party leaders are reliably reported to be studying proposals for establishing Government markets throughout Britain.

Trained staffs, probably including many middlemen, absorbed from the present system, would handle and grade all fruits and vegetables at Government depots which presumably would replace such famed distribution centres as London's Covent Garden.

Even the most optimistic Socialist spokesmen admit that trying to reduce retail prices is a tricky, thankless task. But there are signs that the cost of living will be one of the main issues whenever the next election is held.

There is popularly supposed to be a continuing struggle within the party regarding its attitude toward further nationalization. "Whichever wing emerges triumphant—those who want to call a halt now or those who favor all-out 'socialism'—retail prices will still play a dominant part.

Duke Prefers Hoi Polloi

WOODSTOCK, Eng., July 6 (AP).—The Duke of Marlborough opened his ancestral Blenheim Palace to the common folk again today after a bunch of blue bloods had all but torn the place apart at a charity ball.

The Duke lent the palace Tuesday night for a charity affair, and later indignantly declared that some 1,800 high-born Britons romped through the halls spilling drinks on tapestries and burning cigarette holes in priceless carpets. The charity ball raised $16,800 for the Oxfordshire boys' clubs.

He gets two shillings and sixpence (25 cents) a head when the commoners go through the place and says they behave much better than those blue bloods.

The Duke uses the tourists' fees to help pay his huge taxes.

C.C.L. Claims Misleading Says Consolidated Chief

MONTREAL, July 6 (AP).—R. E. Staver, president of Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., which was attacked by the Canadian Congress of Labor yesterday for dealing with what the C.C.L. called a Red-run union, said today that the C.C.L. had made "an irresponsible and misleading statement."

Mr. Staver issued a prepared statement in comment on a C.C.L. charge that the company was showing "indifference" to national security by maintaining a contract with the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers in the Trail, B.C. plant.

The mine-mill union was thrown out of the C.C.L. after it was ejected by the Congress of Industrial Organizations in the United States, the C.C.L.'s American counterpart. The mine-mill union was charged with being Communist controlled. Another Congress affiliate, the United Steel Workers, has been trying for certification as bargaining agent for the Trail plant workers.

The C.C.L. executive committee said in Ottawa yesterday that the Trail plant is producing "strategic atomic fission materials."

Mr. Staver said C.C.L. statements to the effect "that the company is jeopardizing the security of Canada and negotiating sub-standard contracts by dealing with the International Union of Mine,

To Share Cost Of Health Unit

OTTAWA, July 6 (AP).—Costs of the newly-established Simon Fraser Health Unit at New Westminster, B.C., will be partially covered by a Federal grant of $10,000, the Health Department announced today.

Unsaleable Story Comes True; Producer Prepares War Play

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD, July 6 (INS)—
For more than six months William

HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD

Gerston, who produced the "Ramona" pageant in Southern California, has been unsuccessfully knocking on the doors of movie studios trying to sell "North of 38 Degrees," by Captain Arthur Aaron.

The studios, with one accord, said it was all too improbable because it's based on an invasion of South Korea by the Northern Reds, which is incited by Communist Russia, and which eventually involves the United States and Great Britain.

Now that Captain Aaron, the former chief public relations officer for the South Korean army, has seen his fiction emerge into real life, he will present the play himself at the El Capitan in early September with Lloyd Nolan.

WHISKERS FOR SET

Chatter in Hollywood: Clark Gable's whiskers, which are just starting to sprout, are being raised for his art—well wear them in "Across the Wide Missouri."

I met the Gables at a dinner dance over the Fourth. Sylvia had just received her engagement ring from Clark and, believe me, it's a beauty. It's 12 carats and is as clear as crystal. Clark had looked for it until he found just what he wanted.

Sylvia told me that when she showed her ring to a jeweler in New York he said, "This is the sort of stone we try to buy—not sell."

With all her wonderful collection of jewels she is more thrilled with this ring than anything she owns.

WATCHED PONIES

Took time out to watch the ponies run at the new Hollywood Park, my first visit this season. The Turf Club is beautiful and it's a kick to see the horses being saddled in the paddock, now in front of the grandstand instead of behind it. What did you say? Oh, I lost—but it was fun.

Alan Dwan, whom I haven't heard of since his highly successful "Bonds of Two Jims," was in the crowd. I don't know whether he won or lost—but he was happy anyway.

He's just signed a new producer-director contract with Herbert Yates. His first is Peter E. Kyne's "The Story of Belle Le Grand," with John Carroll and Vera Ralston.

RANDOM SNAPSHOTS

Ann Rutherford and William Dozier dancing every dance at a recent party. Bill was certainly turning on the charm.

Wanda Hendrix and Johnny Sands, young actor popular with the bobby-sovere, glimpsed at the Seven Seas Cafe having a quiet dinner for two.

Mike Romanoff is building a swank new restaurant located south of the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Apparently Stewart Granger has shot an elephant in Africa. He promised Deborah Kerr he'd send her a trophy, and today a pair of

A Murder Is Announced

"It's rather a touching collection of letters," he said. "Miss Blacklock poured out everything in the hopes of sustaining her sister's interest in life and keeping her health good. There's a very clear picture of an old father in the background—old Dr. Blacklock, a real old fish-headed bully, absolutely set in his ways, and convinced that everything he thought and said was right. Probably killed thousands of patients through obstinacy. He wouldn't stand for any new ideas or methods."

"She took the letter that Craddock handed her."

"I want you to read it because I think that that generation is more easily understood by you than by me. I don't know really quite how these people's minds worked."

Miss Marple unfolded the fragile paper.

"Dearest Charlotte,"

"I've not written for two days because we've been having the most terrible domestic complications. Randall's sister Sonia—(you remember her? She came to take you out in the car that day? How I wish you would go out more!)—Sonia has declared her intention of marrying Dmitri Stamford. I've only seen him once. Very attractive—not to be trusted, I should say. R. G. raves against him and he says he is a crook and a swindler. Belle, bless her, just smiles and lies on her sofa. Sonia, who though she looks so impressive has really a terrific temper, is simply wild with R. G. I really thought yesterday she was going to murder him!"

"I've done my best. I've talked to Sonia and I've talked to R. G. and I've got them both into a more reasonable frame of mind, and then they come together and it all starts over again!—You've no idea how stiring it is. R. G. has been making inquiries—and it does really seem as though this Stamford man was thoroughly undesirable."

"In the meantime business is being neglected. I carry on at the office and in a way it's rather fun because R. G. gives me a free hand. He said to me yesterday, 'Thank Heaven, there's one sane person in the world—You're never likely to fall in love with a crook, Blackie, are you?' I said I didn't think I was likely to fall in love with anybody."

R. G. said: "Let's start a few new houses in the City." He's really rather a mischievous devil sometimes and he says terribly near the wind. You're quite determined to keep me on the straight and narrow path, aren't you, Blackie? He said the other day. And I shall, too! I can't understand how people can't see a thing's dishonest—but R. G. really and truly doesn't. He only knows what is actually against the law."

Belle only laughs at all this. She thinks the fuss about Sonia is all nonsense. "Sonia has her own money," she said. "Why shouldn't she marry the man if she wants to?" I said it might turn out to be a terrible mistake and Belle said "It's never a mistake to marry a man you want to marry—even if you regret it." And then she said "I suppose Sonia doesn't want to break with Randall because of money. Sonia's very fond of money."

No more now. How is father? I won't say give him my love. But you can if you think it's better to do so. Have you seen more people?

You really must not be morbid, darling.

Sonia asks to be remembered to you. She has just come in and is closing and unclosing her hands like an "X" at sharpening its claws. I think she and R. G. have had another row. Of course Sonia can be very irritating. She stares you down with that cool stare of hers.

Lots of love, darling, and buck up. This iodine treatment may make a lot of difference. I've been inquiring about it and it really does seem to have good results.

Your loving sister,

Letitia

MAKE JAM THE MODERN SHORT-BOIL WAY

SAVE TIME, WORK, MONEY

Compare These Two Methods—

WITH CERTO

1. Mrs. A. makes jam the short-boil way with CERTO. She has 2 pounds of fruit prepared, ready to start at 9 o'clock.

2. The dotted line shows level of the prepared fruit in Mrs. A's saucepan.

3. Mrs. A. adds 3 pounds of sugar. A pound of jam made with CERTO contains no more sugar than a pound made the old long-boil way.

4. Mrs. A. brings the mixture to a full rolling boil; boils hard ONE MINUTE only; removes from stove and adds ½ bottle (4 ozs.) Certo. CERTO is the natural jelling substance in fruit in concentrated form.

5. Mrs. A. is able to pour and paraffin about 5 pounds (10 glasses) of jam from her 2 pounds of fruit. She gets sure results because she follows the CERTO recipe EXACTLY.

6. Mrs. A.'s 10 glasses of jam were made in just 15 minutes.

THE OLD WAY

1. Mrs. B. makes jam the old-fashioned long-boil way. She, too, is ready to start her jam making at 9 o'clock.

2. Mrs. B. starts off with the same amount of prepared fruit in her saucepan.

3. Mrs. B. uses the old "pound of sugar per pound of fruit" standard recipe. So she adds 2 pounds of sugar.

4. Mrs. B. boils the mixture about 30 minutes before the jam thickens to the desired consistency. This evaporates about ½ the weight of the fruit, darkens the color and carries off much of the natural fresh-fruit flavor in steam.

5. Mrs. B. pours and paraffins about 3 pounds (6 glasses) of jam from the same amount of fruit. Until it is finished she cannot tell for sure how well her jam will turn out.

6. Mrs. B. took 45 minutes to make her 6 glasses of jam.

Certo gave Mrs. A. sure results... much more jam... saved time, work and money.

Free Recipe Book

Under the label of every bottle of CERTO is a book of 78 tested recipes for jams and jellies. Different fruits need different handling, so CERTO gives you a separate recipe for each fruit. Be sure to follow the simple directions EXACTLY.

Skill Shown by Hand-Weavers

Outstanding work of skilled hand weavers from coast to coast is on view for three days at the 1950 Annual National Exhibition of Hand Weaving which opened yesterday in the Empress Hotel. Sponsored by the Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild, the display drew exhibitors from Halifax, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria.

Opened yesterday afternoon by Mr. E. G. Rowbottom, deputy minister of trade and industry, the display has hundreds of articles ranging from simple place mats to men's ties, aprons, dresses, suits, upholstery fabrics, drapes, shopping bags, sachets, luncheon cloths, mats, rugs, scarves, evening bags, dress and suit lengths, lamp shades, crib sets, blankets and towels.

Work was not confined to the distaff side and two men, Mr. R. Farmer of Salt Spring Island and Mr. A. Mackay of Maple Bay proved that masculine equally fine materials can produce equally fine materials. Mr. Mackay displayed a length of botany wool suiting while Mr. Farmer exhibited silk draperies.

Receiving much admiration from visitors was the work of Mrs. Honey Hooser of Cloverdale. Among her articles were dainty place mats, colorful aprons, a full size bedspread in red and off-white panel design, and striking draperies in a brown ombre stripe.

To Help Equip Veteran's Home

Almost $200 was realized when the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Esquimalt Branch No. 172, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., held its annual garden party at the Old England Inn. Proceeds will be used to furnish a room in the new home to be built for the class 6 Veterans, at present being housed at the B.V.A. Hospital.

Mrs. B. R. Spencer who opened the fête, Mrs. E. Macdonald, auxiliary president, and Mrs. V. Barnwell, general convenor, received the guests. The R.C.N. band was in attendance throughout the afternoon and pupils of the Adelaide Duncan Dancing School performed to the music of the pipes.

Tea was served by the Girl Guides and members of the Esquimalt Hi-Y Club under the convener'ship of Mrs. V. Olbbona. Mrs. L. A. Clark was winner of the door prize.

Unusual and practical were three handbags made by Mrs. E. E. Fowler, 50 Sylvan Lane, in blue plaid on stiff rubber forms.

The work of a beginner with a professional touch was a burgundy wine-suit woven by Miss Lola Worthington, 1390 Craigflower Road, who did it "in about three months between teaching school and marking papers at Mount View."

A versatile exhibitor is Miss Marjorie Hill, 29 Gorge Road, whose skill was evident in the number and variety of articles displayed. Among them were fluffy bath mats, a three-panel green and white screen, mauve woolen dress length, place mats and dainty sachets.

From across Canada came a heavy rug woven in Montreal and depicting a fishing village in colorful detail and a beige dress made in Halifax in monk's belt weave trimmed in patterns reminiscent of the Aztec designs.

Guild members are on hand to conduct visitors and to demonstrate the use of the loom and spinning wheels.

Sally Jacobson Is Bride At Metropolitan United

Lovely Summer flowers decorated Metropolitan United Church Friday evening for the marriage of Sally Helena, daughter of Mrs. Matilda O. Jacobson of Edmonton, Alta., and the late Bernard J. Jacobson, to Leonard Rex Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Stewart, 2354 Glasgow Avenue. Dr. A. E. Whitehouse performed the ceremony, and Mr. E. Holloway presided at the organ.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Helen Wilson sang "Because." The bride, given in marriage by Mr. R. Leeman, was lovely in white satin fashioned with off-shoulder neckline and nylon yoke, fluted bodice and full skirt with bustle. Her chapel veil of illusion net was caught at the head with a beaded tiara. Pearls, the gift of the groom, were her only ornaments, and she carried a bouquet of red roses with streamers knotted with ribbons.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Ruth Lindsay, matron of honor, gowned in pink nylon over taffeta with bandeau of feathered-pink carnations in her hair, pink mitts and carried a Colonial bouquet of sweet peas and carnations; Miss Iona Stewart, sister-of-the-groom, wore mauve nylon over taffeta with matching mitts, a floral headpiece duplicating the pink carnations and sweet peas in her Colonial bouquet. Mr. Joseph Wilson acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. Thomas Duckitt and Mr. Allan Hudson.

The reception was held at Loughheed's Banquet Club, where Mr. Ralph Leeman gave the toast. The table decorated with sweet peas, was centred with the three-tiered cake flanked by lighted white candles in crystal holders. Going away the bride wore a navy blue gabardine-suit with pink accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will return to Victoria to make their home.

Octopus Taken in Trap On City Waterfront

Marine News

Victoria will soon have a reputation as a good place to find an octopus, if the present catch continues.

William Reader, crab fisherman who lives at Colwood Camp, pulled in his second one in as many years yesterday afternoon at the foot of St. Lawrence Street and Dallas Road.

The sea denizen, measuring more than seven feet from tentacle tip to tip, worked its way into a crab trap, ate the bait plus two small crabs and finally was pulled to the surface when Mr. Reader went to check his traps late yesterday afternoon.

About a month ago another octopus was discovered washed ashore near Rock Bay. This one was slightly larger than the one caught by Mr. Reader.

According to the crab fisherman the octopus was caught a short distance from where some small children were swimming.

Octopuses, however, have not been known to attack humans in this area. They prey mostly on fish, crabs and other creatures that live on the seabed.

INCREASE ANNOUNCED
Canadian Pacific Railway Company officials yesterday announced a 2 1/2-cent increase per 100 pounds in steamer freight rates between Vancouver and Victoria. The increase will be effective Monday, July 24.

ALARM IN OPERATION
Mariners were notified by T. E. Morrison, agent for the Department of Transport, that Brochle Ledge fog alarm, Victoria harbor, is again in operation. He also advised that Robertson Point light, Howe Sound, has been relit.

PRICES REDUCED
Southern California's annual "gold rush" encountered a price break yesterday, with most canneries in San Diego cutting from $400 to $375 a ton. Buyers said heavy deliveries of the tuna were the cause.

WILL VISIT VICTORIA
The United States naval reserve training ship Rombach will visit Victoria July 14 to 17, Mayor Percy George was notified yesterday by Rear Admiral H. G. DeWolf, flag officer Pacific Coast.

The ship will arrive in the afternoon of July 14, and leave in the morning of July 17. It will berth at the naval jetty, Esquimalt. Lieutenant W. T. Davern, U.S.N., has command of the Rombach, which carries five officers and 89 men.

Sea Denizen Caught in Trap

—Commit Photo.

SEEK RESTRICTIONS

Negotiations to establish fishing areas along the coast of Nova Scotia, which would not be entered by naval vessels, are under way, a naval authority said yesterday. The move followed receipt of claims for damages from fishermen who charged their nets had been destroyed by naval ships along the coast. So far as can be determined no such reports have been received on the West Coast.

TASTE OF SEA

A young sailor got a taste of the ocean Wednesday night when his 14-foot sailboat turned on its side off Mary Todd Island, near the Oak Bay Boat House.

Twenty-year-old Ken Lowe was able to climb onto the side of the craft until help came. A large sail prevented it from turning over completely.

He was rescued by Fred Chivers, who set out in his own boat and picked Lowe up.

Bakers Seek Strike Vote

Employees of two Nanaimo bakeries have rejected a majority conciliation report recommending a weekly increase of $1.75 and applied for a Government-supervised strike vote. It was learned yesterday.

The vote is expected to be held today.

Affected are workers employed by Canadian and McGavin Bakeries Ltd.

The majority report also recommended a reduction of ten cents an hour in all extra compensation paid for night work.

The $2.50 weekly wage increase sought by the union, Local 468 of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), was recommended in a minority report.

EYES WEAKENED

Studies have shown that after too much sunbathing without sunglasses, you need a 90-watt bulb to get the same amount of light a 60-watt bulb would provide otherwise.

Even when dried indoors...EVEN WITHOUT RINSING

Surf gives you Sweeter Washes

...whiter, brighter to look at!
...fresh-air-sweet to smell!

Surf contains a wonderful detergent which not only removes every last trace of dirt and grease, but of "dirty clothes" odour, too! Your wash is really sweet and clean—and it smells that way!

Surf gets clothes so deep-down SWEET and clean you can actually SMELL their freshness—even when you have to hang the wash indoors!

But Surf does even more than that. It saves you hours of labour because, with Surf, you don't have to rinse your clothes unless you want to!

Surf—the Surf that's new at your grocer's—has the magic power of grabbing and holding the dirt in the wash water, so when you wring out the water you actually wring the dirt out with it.

And when you don't rinse, Surf's purifying ingredient continues working in your clothes, to keep them sweeter... in the linen closet or bureau drawer! So, if you prefer to rinse, add a little Surf to the rinse water.

Those rich, long-lasting Surf suds do 3 times the work of ordinary washday soaps, in the hardest water. They make short work of your grimeiest, heaviest things, yet they're safe for your sheerest stockings—your prettiest dresses—for baby's delicate things.

So get a couple of packages of Surf and try it next washday. It's especially developed for no-rinse washing. All the Surf you grocer now has is the amazing no-rinse Surf in the same familiar package.

↑ "ORDINARY" CLEAN! Though you may think your wash is perfectly clean, a faint "mussy" odour often betrays the fact that some remnants of dirt, grease or suds are still clinging to the fibres. Rinsing won't get rid of this... but Surf does!

↓ SURF CLEAN! Even without rinsing Surf removes every last trace of dirt, grease (and suds)... every trace of odour, too! That's why it gets your clothes so white, so bright... so soft... so wonderfully SCUM-FREE SUDS FOR A SWEETER WASH

If it's Surf-clean, it's really clean...EVEN WITHOUT RINSING

By The Associated Press

A mild-mannered rally in the New York stock market got through its second day in a row yesterday.

Gains were small but widespread.

painfully at times.

60 stocks advanced 4 of one point to 74.3. As a group, rails were despite the upturn. Volume was about 1,530,000 shares.

Leading industrial stocks showed gains ranging from fractions to more than a point. Generally, the market was narrow compared with recent broad movements.

Western oil showed a wide hat of strong advances. Pacific Petroleum, Royalite and Atlantic paced the upturn with gains ranging up to 25 cents. Advances more than doubled declines.

Advances ranged up to ten cents in junior stocks and were held to fractions in seniors as the day closed up from morning losses.

Base metals also brightened from early declines.

MONTREAL MIXED

In Montreal, gains and losses were narrow and mixed in moderate trading near the final hour.

Stocks generally showed a mixed

54,400 shares traded, and mines had a turnover of 345,300 shares.

A wide list of utilities were off at the close.

Courtenay Land-Clearing Called Two Years' Work

COURTENAY—There is sufficient work in the Courtenay-Campbell River area to keep Government land-clearing units busy for the next two years, District Agriculturalist Roy Wilkinson told a recent Rotary Club meeting.

Clearing machinery had been operating in the Courtenay Valley for only one month and many applications for clearing had been received, Mr. Wilkinson said.

Applied to the unit are three groups. Rental range from $10 to $12 an hour.

Mr. Wilkinson described the clearing operations as a means of increasing local productivity and alleviating the need for costly importation of food for livestock.

Establishment of a full-time veterinary service in the district would be of great benefit to the farm community, he said.

PARKSVILLE.—Northwest Bay Logging Company and Abernethy Timber Company have suspended logging operations owing to hot weather fire hazards. Forestry officials in the area report that the conditions are not extremely hot but term conditions "quite hazardous" and stress the need for caution.

COURTENAY.—Five band instruments will be presented during the Valley boys' summer camp, announced by J. H. Lewis, director of the Courtenay A.C. Band, R.C.A. Band.

The positive will be held in the Courtenay at St. Andrew's Anglican Church, with the band playing in the courtyard. A hand-drawn band banner will be on hand.

DUNCAN, July 6.—A meeting to discuss the difficulties of handling school costs will be held on the near future between Rev. A. F. Bayles, Hon. H. Anscombe, Minister of Finance, and Hon. W. T. Straits, Minister of Education. Date of the meeting has not been set, the Rev. Bayles told North Cowichan council members.

"It's nothing to do about the the Rev. said, 'we can expect another 15-mill jump in taxes next year.' He was referring to the problem facing the council of raising another $70,494 by taxation to meet school costs of $125,507.

A list of comparisons showed Ladsmuth with a population of 2,000, received $20,378 in taxes for school costs of $21,383. Duncan with 3,000 population, paid $29,836 against costs of $31,304. Eight Bowlers From Nanaimo To Seek Title

Eight Nanaimo players will be among the 75 lawn bowlers competing in the Vancouver Island bowling championship at the B.C. Bowl tomorrow. Competition for the B.C. Cup will be wide open with Jimmie Robertson of Cumberland not defending the title he won last year.

Play will begin at 9 a.m. with players knocked out in the first and second rounds eligible for consolation play to begin at 2:30 p.m. Draw follows:

BERRA DOUBLES

Yoni Berra, stretching his American players hitting streak to ten games, doubled home Gene Woodling from first base with two out in the ninth to give the New York Yankees a 3-4 triumph over Philadelphia. The victory boosted the Yankees within three-and-a-half games of the idle post-setting Detroit Tigers.

Early Wynn's neat four-hit pitching performance paved the way for the Chicago Indians 4-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox in Chicago. Wynn struck out 11 as he won his fifth game in a row and his eighth of the season.

Harvard Crew Winners In Royal Henley Regatta

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, July 6 (CP)—The Royal Henley regatta produced a little bit of everything today, including a last-second victory by a never-say-die Harvard crew.

Besides, there was a boat wreck, a man overboard, and a midsummer storm that watered the placid Thames and the spectators with raindrops the size of florins.

Three of five American crews survived the five elimination heats.

Harvard seemed a goner right up to within 100 yards of the finish line in its heat of the Grand Challenge Cup semi-finals. By beating Lady Margaret Club, regarded as the best British boat on the river, the Crimson eight is favored to sweep through to the title.

The shipwreck occurred when a Belgian boat hit the boom separating the race course from other river traffic. It stopped dead in the water and the race was restarted at the request of the other crews. Trinity College of Oxford, Trinity won in the run-over by two lengths over the slightly-damaged Belgian boat.

In another race the No. 8 crewman of the London Rowing Club's four-man boat fell overboard when it sidestepped the boom. He climbed back quickly and London finished the race, but far out of the money.

FINISH DRIVE

The Harvards made their bid half a mile from the finish of the one-mile 400-yard course. Stepping up their rate from 22 to 34, they drew up on the badly-tiring British boat and nosed ahead in disappointment thousands of partisan rovers.

The last-second Harvard sprint brought victory by half a length in seven minutes, eight seconds.

British Columbia May Be Declared Freed From Cattle T.B. This Year

NEWS FROM THE LEGISLATIVE BUILDINGS

All British Columbia west of the Rockies may be declared a tuberculosis-free area for cattle this year, Hon. Harry Bowman, British Columbia's Minister of Agriculture, said yesterday that tests now being carried out by Dominion veterinarians may give a clean bill of health, as far as tuberculosis is concerned, to the whole province except for the Peace River block.

The Dominion's stamp of approval would put dollars in cattlemen's pockets by streamlining cattle exports, the minister indicated. It would also safeguard public health and morale by guaranteeing that citizens could buy meat and milk free from tuberculosis. . . though the Province's testing of every commercial dairy farm now gives a fairly solid assurance.

VACATING FIELD
The livestock branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, which has pioneered in tuberculosis testing from the United States border to the Far North since 1913, is vacating the field in favor of the Dominion. The Province will continue for the present in the Peace River block, but the Dominion will probably take over there next year.

Dominion and Provincial tests are almost exactly the same, but the Dominion's "clean" label on British Columbia cattle will carry more weight in clearing cattle for export. Plans for the transfer were laid this week in a conference between the minister and Dr. John Stewart, chief of area testing for the Dominion's livestock branch; Dr. F. W. B. Smith, chief veterinarian of the health of animals branch; Federal Department of Agriculture, and Dr. F. W. Macdonald, local representative of the branch.

ALREADY T.B.-FREE
Parts of the province have already been declared T.B.-free by the Dominion, which has taken over testing on those areas. They include the Fraser Valley and South Vancouver Island. Further tests are conducted at intervals to maintain the T.B.-free status.

Dominion veterinarians will start testing on the Island almost immediately, the Minister said. Dr. W. R. Gunn, director of the Provincial Livestock Branch, pointed out that British Columbia has the lowest relative incidence of bovine T.B. in Canada. This province is the only one which has done organized tuberculosis testing.

Transfer of tuberculosis testing to the Dominion leaves the bulk of the Provincial veterinary staff free for the battle against brucellosis, the other serious cattle disease which can be caught by human beings. Brucellosis in humans is the wasting ailment known as undulant fever. Twelve British Columbia areas, with 200,000 head of cattle, have already been labeled "brucellosis-controlled." Regular testing by the Provincial department is carried out in many areas. In others, including Vancouver Island, the livestock branch co-operates with veterinarians in an individual control program.

Dr. Alex Robertson, a recent graduate of Ontario Veterinary College, has been added to the branch's Victoria staff. Dr. J. E. Bennett of Victoria is helping part-time in the animal pathology laboratory. Dr. E. A. Bruce, internationally known animal pathologist, is also helping.

RAIL CONTRACT LET
Contract for laying 44 miles of Pacific Great Eastern steel southward from Prince George on the 22-mile Quesson-Prince George extension of the Government-owned railway has been let to a Vancouver firm, Jamieson Construction Company.

The announcement came yesterday from the office of James Stewart, deputy minister of railways, after a meeting of the board of directors. The contract was let on a unit price basis, and the total price was $738,737.50.

The only other tender was a $1,049,193.90 bid from Fred Mannix Construction Company, Limited.

FILLS GAP
Award of the contract fills another gap in the fast-progressing rail extension. Still to be awarded are contracts for some 30 miles of rail-laying, and a superstructure of two bridges. Contracts have already been let for clearing and grading the entire extension.

The railway's own crews are laying 12 miles of steel. The remainder is to be done by British. British-made rails are being used. "Biggest question mark in P.G.E. expansion plans was the nature of the planned link between Vancouver and the railway's southern terminus at Squamish. Surveys have been made, but directors have not announced whether the link is to be by rail or road.

FIRE HAZARD EASES
Foresters breathed a little easier yesterday as scattered showers, clouds and higher humidity brought a measure of relief from fire hazard. But the number of fires burning in British Columbia continued to increase.

Yesterday afternoon 350 men were fighting 53 fires throughout the province. In Vancouver forest district a new fire on Minster Island was eating into felled and bucked timber. Fire at Salmon River was smoldering under control. Crews were fighting two blazes on the Nahcaltch River.

A 600-acre blaze at Perow in Prince Rupert forest district was being fought by 150 men. A 600-acre fire at Punchaw Lake in Prince George forest district was causing concern; 50 men and two tractors battled it.

Still out of hand was a 120-acre fire at Horse Lake in Kamloops forest district.

TOURIST SCENE
Tourists are pouring into British Columbia at a near-record pace. Tourist travel for the first five months of 1950 was well ahead of the same period of 1949, according to figures released yesterday by Hon. Leslie H. Eyles, Minister of Trade and Industry.

Vehicles crossing British Columbia border points on travelers' vehicle permits during the first five months totaled 48,758, compared to 47,778 for the same period of 1949—an increase of 880 vehicles.

"As these figures do not take into consideration individual tourists traveling by air, rail, boat and bus, and with the better vacation months still ahead of us, prospects of last year's all-time mark being surpassed are extremely bright," the minister said.

MAGISTRATE NAMED
Cuthbert W. Lintott was appointed stipendiary magistrate for the county of Yale by provincial order in council yesterday.

PLAN APPROVED
An order in council yesterday put the province's stamp of approval on North Vancouver's plan to spend $10,000 from its $27,693 tax sale reserve account on a filtration plant for its public swimming baths in Mahon Park.

Park Dancing Opens Summer Program
THE opening session of "Dancing on the Green" proved fun for more than 100 dancers last night at Central Park as the Y.M.C.A. and Parks Board, co-sponsors of the event, officially began their summer program.

Using a public-address system, Harold Evans instructed the dancers in the secrets of Canadian square dances, progressive barn dances, Strip the Willow, Spanish waltz and the eightsome. Later, modern dances were featured on the program.

Instruction will be given from 8:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m., each Thursday through July and August. These weekly dances are free and open to the public.

Two Widely Known Residents of Island In Bitter Clash Over City's Good Name

Two prominent Vancouver Island residents, a mass-circulation magazine and a city's good name are involved in a bitter controversy which was calling "a storm in a pot-bellied."

The pot-bellied: the serialized "adventure" novel, "Legacy of Fear," written by East Sooke Author Garnett Weston, which ran in The Saturday Evening Post.

The second prominent resident: George I. Warren, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Following publication of the serial, Mr. Warren wrote a long angry letter to The Post in which he claimed the story misrepresented Victoria, its thinly-relied locale.

SMALL CHUNK
The Post published a small chunk of the letter. Yesterday Mr. Warren claimed that the omission of the greater part of the letter "made me look like a fool." He supplied the press with the full text of the letter, which read in part as follows:

"The story with its insinuating inferences has no place in The Saturday Evening Post. Its proper medium . . . would be one of the cheaper pulps."

"The locale is . . . obviously Victoria. Catleigh (character in the serial) lands from the Princess Marguerite . . . from Seattle on the 'Canadian Island' which is to say Victoria."

"The story made an unpromising start, and seems to go . . . from one impossible situation to another. Victoria, apparently, is the haunt of Chinese kidnappers, gangsters, thugs and peddler-browed Chinese seductresses; of opium dens, filthy malodorous fish-and-chip joints; a place where a man must wear a gun and be quick to the draw. . . . 'Victoria is policed—and few cities have less need of policing—not by London Bobbies,' but by veterans of World Wars One and Two. Our Chinese citizens are among the most respected. This Weston is correct in one thing only: we have in Victoria an unusual number of lovely Chinese girls, almost all of them graduates of the University of British Columbia; or going there. . . . 'Weston may say . . . Well, my story had to start somewhere.' We don't agree. His story need never have started. It was apparently never worth writing."

"We are bitterly annoyed, and so must be thousands . . . of American citizens who have spent their vacations in this city, and who know it for what it is—a small, placid, prosperous city, one of the most charming residential cities in North America and probably one of the most law-abiding and crime-free."

In the version of Mr. Warren's letter which The Post published, only two paragraphs survived. The Post allowed Mr. Warren to say: "The locale is obviously Victoria."

The magazine did not print the sentence in which he pin-pointed the locale by the arrival of the Princess Marguerite and the words "Canadian Island."

The Post printed Mr. Warren's reference to the fictional Victoria as "the haunt of Chinese kidnappers, gangsters, thugs. . . ." It added, editorially, these words: "The Post is surprised that Reader Warren should be so quick to identify the shockingly sinful city of Mr. Weston's serial—as 'no very obviously' Victoria."

Mr. Warren claimed yesterday that by omission of key words The Post implied he had recognized Victoria by the "gangster" description.

Angry words of reply came out of Sooke, where Mr. Weston said that right or wrong, he had handed Victoria priceless publicity. Anyway, he indicated, he was right.

"I have never heard of Mr. Warren or his publicity bureau in the ten years I have been living . . . in Sooke," said Mr. Weston, a one-time top Hollywood writer.

He criticized Mr. Warren's description of the city as "crime-free."

"In the last ten years there have been four or five murders of young women—which have never been solved," Mr. Weston said.
